NEW YORK (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara says I would not trade our strategic posture for that of the Soviets at any point during the coming decade.

McNamara said the United States has a strategic nuclear deterrent far superior to that of the Soviet Union. Also he said, this country has combat-ready, mobile conventional forces armed with tactical nuclear weapons at least the equal of any Soviet Union and its allies could mobilize in Europe.

McNamara's report made in a speech at a dinner of the Economic Club of New York Monday night, and been billed as a major policy speech and was believed to be the Kennedy administration's answer to recent Soviet actions in Berlin and rough talk by Premier Khrushchev.

McNamara discounted arguments of those who say the United States as hundreds of times more strength than it needs and those who say the country is risking its future by unilateral disarmament.

Wants Chips to Fall Where They May

By JOSEPH R. COYNE
WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Clifford P. Chase of the Senate Rules Committee today said "let the chips fall where they may" in its investigation of Robert O. Baker's wheeling and dealing.

The New Jersey Republican said public confidence in the integrity of Congress may hit a new low as a result of Baker's resignation under fire as secretary to Senate Democratic majority and subsequent developments which Case said reflect on Congress as an institution.

"The good name of the Senate is at stake," Case said in a prepared Senate speech which he called on the committee to follow up all aspects of the case "no matter where the chips fall."

Case's urging for a complete investigation came a day after Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield disclosed that Senate employees who received their jobs through the Democratic majority now or required to list their assets and sources of income.

The regulation does not apply to senators. But Mansfield said he personally would favor such a disclosure by senators.

Baker resigned his Senate job last month after it was alleged in a civil suit that he used his influence in securing contracts for firms doing defense work for the government.

State Group Is Hearing Claims

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The state Claims Commission will hear Thursday the application of two men for a refund of sales taxes paid under a 1941 Arkansas law which the state Supreme Court held invalid.

Robert Franklin of Little Rock is seeking a refund of $5,515.95 on taxes paid between 1957 and 1961.

J. H. Dickens of Magnolia, wants $11,346.11 for the years 1945 to 1961.

The Supreme Court ruled the law illegal in 1962 but the 1963 legislature passed a new law in 1963 providing for the taxation of receipts from amusement devices.

Lyle Williams, an attorney for the state Revenue Department, said the Claims Commission should reject the petitions because neither Franklin nor Dickens paid the taxes under protest.

Williams also said it would be impossible to separate the disputed sales tax payment from other amusement taxes collected since 1945.

Officials Talk to Professor About Arrest

By LEWIS GULICK
WASHINGTON (AP) — State Department experts question Yale Prof. Frederick C. Barghoorn today to try to unravel the mystery of why Russia jailed him on spy charges and sent a new chill through U.S.-Soviet relations.

Barghoorn, who his mother said was handcuffed and treated like a jailbird by Soviet police, has declared the reason for his arrest may never be known.

But at least three high ranking officials intend to question him in hopes of hitting on a clue.

The three are Llewellyn Thompson, former U.S. ambassador to Moscow and now an adviser on East-West affairs; William R. Tyler, assistant secretary of State for European affairs; and his deputy, Richard H. Davis. Secretary of State Dean Rusk also may talk with him.

U.S. foreign policy makers want to determine how to weigh the scholar's case in conducting future relations with Russia — including the proposed renewal of the U.S.-Soviet cultural exchange pact.

A U.S. mission that had been due to start negotiations in Moscow today on renewing the exchange agreement is still "cooling its heels in Washington while the policy makers measure the impact of the Barghoorn affair."

The mission's planned departure for Moscow was canceled after Russia announced the professor's arrest. He was released Saturday.

At a news conference after being flown to his home in New Haven, Barghoorn declined to spell out details of his arrest until he had talked with Washington officials.

Just why the Soviets picked on Barghoorn appears to be still a mystery to Washington officials. There are a number of theories.

One is that the Kremlin wanted to discourage Russians from becoming too friendly with visiting Americans, and also to dissuade Americans from hobnobbing with Soviet citizens.

Another is that Soviet security men took Barghoorn's professional inquisitiveness to be spying and had little notion of the furor his arrest would set off.

Contempt Case Is Deferred

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP) — Action on a contempt of court charge against Memphis attorney Hunter Lane Sr., was deferred at Jonesboro Monday by U.S. District Judge Gordon Young.

The refund order was issued Jan. 31.

Young's show - cause order was issued Nov. 4 and the referee in bankruptcy received a $94.41 check from Lane on Nov. 6.

JFK Calls on Cubans to Oust Dictator Castro

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Staff Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy settled back into his workaday routine today, but only temporarily, after a hectic Florida trip capped by an appeal to the Cuban people to overthrow the Castro regime.

Kennedy, who will be taking off again Thursday on an equally fast-paced Texas trip, promised Monday night that Americans will fight to block any future Communist takeover in the hemisphere.

And the President said the United States is ready to help Cubans establish a progressive government without fear of a return to the economic and political system of the old Batista dictatorship.

Kennedy's significant foreign policy address climaxed a five-day speech tour of Tampa and Miami.

The President's whirlwind schedule was reminiscent of the itinerary for a political campaign. He will spend three days touring the major cities of Texas.

In White House parlance, Kennedy's trips to Florida and Texas, the South's two most populous states, must be classed as nonpolitical. However, few observers doubted that the mounting tempo of presidential travel was anything but a warmup for the 1964 election campaign.

During his day in Florida, Kennedy chose his audiences with care: a general public gathering at Tampa; separate appearances before business and labor groups in that city; a frankly partisan airport pep rally in Miami, and the hemisphere policy talk at the Miami Beach convention of the Inter-

Tells About Offer to Kill Church-goer

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Another prosecution witness testified in the trial of T. Eugene Thompson about the alleged murder for hire contract which preceded the slaying of Thompson's wife.

Thompson, 35, a St. Paul attorney, is accused of instigating the bludgeon — stabbing death last March 6 of his wife, Carol, 34. He is charged with first degree murder.

The state charges Thompson arranged with Norman Masterson, a former boxer, to find a killer. Prosecutor William Randall claims the motives were $1 million insurance policies on Mrs. Thompson and the love of another woman.

Masterson and Dick W. C. Anderson, also charged with first degree murder in the slaying, await trial. The state claims Anderson was the actual killer.

Monday, Richard G. Sharp testified he introduced Anderson to Masterson and said he was present when Masterson offered the slaying job to Anderson.

Sharp related that he himself had been offered $2,000 by Masterson to kill "a church-goer—the mother of four kids." He said he had been told the amount would be increased to $3,000 if the death was made to look accidental.

Mrs. Thompson, active in a Presbyterian Church, was the mother of four.

Sharp is awaiting trial on a burglary charge.

Historic Site at Memphis Sold

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — A Memphis firm purchaser today the property where the historic old Maywell House once stood, and immediately announced plans for a 35-story multi-purpose building on the site.

Bloomfield Building will cost $1.3 million, the firm's attorney, Robert L. Taylor of Memphis, said. Plans call for a $6.5 million structure on the mid-town property, including a motor hotel on the upper floors.

The Maxwell House burned on Christmas night two years ago, killing one man. The hotel had housed many famous guests, including several U. S. presidents and gave its name to a popular coffee.

Bloomfield bought the property from Edwin B. Raskin, Nashville real estate man, and his associates.

GUESTS LOSE LIVES — Twenty-three guests lost their lives in a roaring fire that destroyed the Surfside Hotel in Atlantic City, N.J. Firemen, top, climbed to nearby rooftops to pour water into the blaze. A still-smoking skelton, bottom, was all that remained of the hotel. A second hotel, the Stratmore, was also destroyed. The Virginia Hotel was damaged.

President Claims Hold on Lebanon

By ALEY EFTY
Associated Press Staff Writer
BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — President Abdel Salam Aref and a team of generals seized power in Iraq today from the Cabinet of Ba'ath Socialists and fighting broke out in Baghdad, the capital.

Aref indicated in a proclamation that he hoped to revive an agreement to merge Iraq with Syria and President Gamal Abdel Nasser's United Arab Republic. He said he would cooperate closely with all Arab nations, "especially with the United Arab Republic."

The Ba'athist partly clique forming the Cabinet is opposed to union with the U.A.R.

There was no word of the fate of the Cabinet, headed by Premier Ahmed Hassan El-Bakr. Only Sunday, Baghdad Radio announced that Bakr had taken over the Defense and Interior (police) ministries temporarily in a Cabinet reshuffle.

A curfew throughout the country was proclaimed by Baghdad Radio.

The fighting appeared to be between the Iraqi armed forces and units of the national guard, which is loyal to exiled Deputy Premier Alia Saleh El Saadi. He leads an extremist Ba'athist faction involved last week in a party struggle for power.

JFK Trying to Make Peace With Steel

By STERLING F. GREEN
Associated Press Staff Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — With fresh reassurances of friendship for business President Kennedy again is trying to narrow the chasm opened 18 months ago in the steel price crisis.

Before a business audience Monday Kennedy sounded a peace - and - prosperity theme that will be heard often before election day, 1964 — peace between the administration and business, prosperity for all.

Kennedy has done much to calm the tempest stirred in April 1962 between the White House and Wall Street, his advisers believe. He has enlisted the support of blue - ribbon industry leadership in his drives for civil rights, tax cuts, tariff reduction and export expansion.

But his address to the Florida State Chamber of Commerce at Tampa was a tipoff that he remains sensitive to the business community's lingering suspicion and hostility which erupted from a relationship that was never too cozy from the start.

Charges to Be Filed at Helena

HELENA, Ark. (AP) — Helena authorities were expected to complete action today on charges against all but three of 31 Negroes and one white man arrested in racial demonstrations Saturday.

Fines, probations and suspended sentences were meted to the youths Monday in a day-long municipal court hearing before Judge D. S. Heslen.

Police Chief Roy Ross said Monday night he expected most of the Negroes to be released by noon today.

William Hansen of Pine Bluff, the white man arrested in the demonstration, John Bradford, a Negro of Mount Olive, Miss., and Oscar Lee Fuller, of Helena, pleaded innocent. Their cases were continued until Wednesday.

Hansen and Bradford are field secretaries for the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee.

Eight of the Negroes were released from jail Monday in custody of their parents after receiving six - month suspended jail terms, fines ranging from $50 to $100 and a year's probation on 9 p.m. curfew. Only one of the youths paid his fine, Ross said. The remainder were released on bond.

Ross said the parents of the group released Monday apologized for the action of their children. Most of the youths were high school pupils.

The parents have cooperated with us in every way possible," Ross said.

There were other indications of regret on part of the demonstrators.

Noel Washington, 20, of Pine Bluff, told Heslen he and the others had been brain-washed "and duped" into taking part in the sit-ins at a drug store and cafeteria.

He said, Had I known what this was all about, I never would have participated."

Later Washington told Bill Hudson of the Associated Press during an interview in jail that he just wanted to get this over with and forget about it. I want to start my life over again."

Ross said arrangements were being made for release of Washington to his parents. Washington said he wanted to go back to Arkansas AM&N at Pine Bluff.

Washington, one of eight who first pleaded innocent, then guilty, was given a 60-day suspended sentence. The rest were given 30-day suspended terms.

Ross said he didn't think the Helena demonstrators would accept payment of fines by the SNCC.

Most of them, he said, don't want anything else to do with the group.

Claims TDX Deal Based on Defense

WASHINGTON (AP) — Deputy Secretary of Defense Roswell L. Gilpatric swore today the controversial award of the huge TFX warplane contract to the high bidder was based on "consideration of national defense, and nothing else."

He gave his defense of the disputed contract in a prepared statement to the Senate Investigations subcommittee whose chairman, Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., had just questioned "whether any conflicts of interest or any undue influence" were involved.

The subcommittee is seeking to determine why the contract, expected to cost the taxpayers upwards of $5 billion, was awarded to the General Dynamics Corp. of Ft. Worth, Tex., last December.

The uninformed military had contended a rival design and bid by the Boeing Co. of Seattle promised a better cheaper version of the new fighter-bomber.

Gilpatric, in his statement, said he is as convinced now as he was last year that "the decision to select the General Dynamics proposal rather than the Boeing proposal for the TFX contract was the right one."

Gilpatric said the General Dynamics design was less complex and involved less risk of failure than under the Boeing plan.

Anti-harassment Ordinance Passed

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas City Council Monday unanimously adopted an anti harassment ordinance designed to prevent a repetition of the recent attack on Adlai Stevenson.

The U.S. ambassador to the United Nations was spat on and struck on the head with a picket sign as anti-U.N. demonstrators swarmed around him following an address.

The ordinance permits peaceful picketing but makes it unlawful to interfere with anyone entering or leaving the premises where a public or private meeting is held. A maximum fine of $200 was provided for the new ordinance.

THE CASE OF THE SHAKING SECRETARY

The other day one of the young ladies in the office came to see us with shaking hand and quivering voice. She'd just received one of those letters from the Internal Revenue Service. In blunt terms it suddenly announced that the IRS questioned her deductions to help support an 80-year-old aunt, and that if within 15 days exactly it did not receive documentary proof that the aunt actually existed and a detailed accounting of the aunt's total financial situation, the young lady's tax claim would be forthwith denied and she would be automatically assessed more taxes.

The day this little love note arrived was only a couple of days before the ultimate date stamped on the form. Since the franked envelope bore no postmark, you couldn't tell whether the letter had kicked around the IRS office for a week or so before mailing or whether the delay was the fault of the other arm of the Government the Post Office. Luckily she wasn't on vacation.

In any event, there was hardly time left for breathing, which may explain why the young lady was breathing so hard. We breathed a little hard ourselves when she showed us the form the IRS wanted her to fill out, document and swear to at the risk of prosecution for perjury. The Government demanded such detail as the challenge a CPA much less a youthful secretary just learning with what suspicion the Government views anyone's compassion toward the old and sick.

In view of the short time left between demand and execution, we suggested the young lady call this local IRS office. That was a mistake. She got such short shrift over the phone that the fright was compounded. By this time it didn't do a bit of good to tell her that Mortimer Caplin is really a nice fellow.

We don't know how it's all going to end, since she's now out of the office trying to make her peace with those whose job it is to see that the rich and lordly don't gip the Government. We don't even know how the Government, taxes being what they are, can avoid asking questions. Still, we find it all just as disturbing as the young lady did. Be you rich or poor, can you be undisturbed if suspicion is to prejudice all and frightening letters browbeat with the arrogance of office?—The Wall Street Journal

Rules Wrong Word Can't Void Deed

By JOHN R. STARR

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Supreme Court held today that a transfer of property should not be voided because wording of the deed was technically incorrect.

The ruling reversed a Washington Chancery Court holding in a suit between grandchildren of J. H. and Ella Fletcher.

The property involved is in Springdale and it was bought by Mrs. Fletcher from Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Beavers.

A clause in the deed stated that on Mrs. Fletcher's death the property should revert to J. H. Fletcher or his heirs.

J. H. Fletcher died in 1931 and Mrs. Fletcher died in 1962, leaving all her property to two grandchildren, Mildred Clarkson and John Lynn Fletcher.

Ula Osborne and John Mullins, grandchildren of Fletcher by another marriage, sued to get possession of the Springdale property under the reversion clause in the will.

The chancery court held that the reversion clause was invalid since Fletcher had never owned the land before the deed was written and technically the land could not revert back to him.

The Supreme Court said that the person drawing the deed clearly intended for the land to go to Fletcher or his heirs at Mrs. Fletcher's death or there would have been no reason for the reversion paragraph.

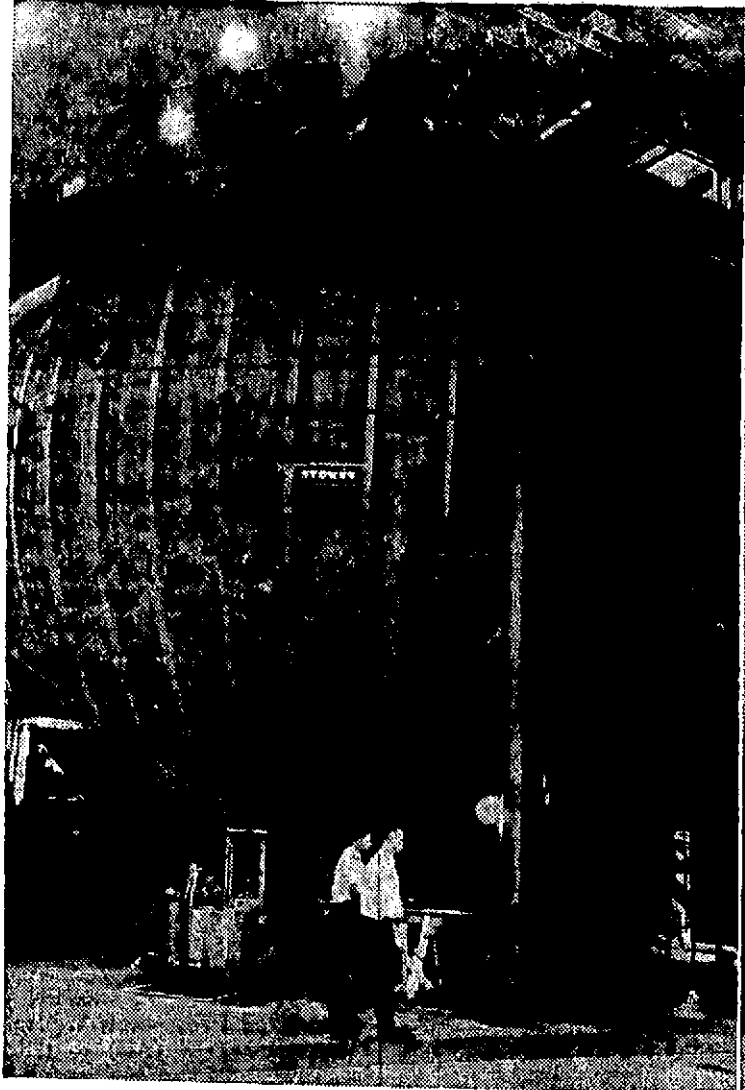

The Supreme Court affirmed Faulkner Chancery Court in a land dispute between Mr. and Mrs. James DiSalvo and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Williams.

The DiSalvos bought land next to the Williams property and learned from a survey that their property line extended 10 feet onto property claimed by the Williams.

The Supreme Court said that a fence on the property line claimed by the Williams had been recognized for years by Cleve Berry, former owner of the DiSalvo property, as the true line and the DiSalvos had no right to the 10 feet.

Pike Chancery Court was affirmed in holding that J. R. Hooker, and others have a right to use the Bowen graveyard in Pike County although the Pisgah Methodist Church gave the property to W. Ray Bowen in a quit-claim deed in 1946.

The court said the deed by which A. M. Bowen, father of W. Ray, deeded the land to the church in 1913, reserved it for use as a public cemetery. The court did say that Bowen could take possession of one-half acre of the one-acre tract, which has never been used as a cemetery.

The Supreme Court refused to set aside a 1945 divorce decree because the woman who obtained it said she was tricked into filing for divorce.

Cynthia Hardin obtained the divorce in 1945 from Claud Hardin. Testimony in Clay Chancery Court revealed that the woman returned to Hardin's home later in 1945 and lived with him as a wife until 1960, when he ran her away.

Mrs. Hardin said her husband tricked her into filing for the 1945 divorce to avoid a property settlement.

The Chancery Court said and the Supreme Court agreed that the issue of trickery could have been tried in the original divorce suit, but it was too late to bring up the matter now.

He appealed for harmony instead of hostility, for mutual cooperation and respect so that all mankind could prosper in an age of peace and abundance."

He offered rebuttal, item by item, for the four accusations which he said were most frequently made by businessmen—topheavy federal government, continuing deficits and rising debt, inflationary fiscal policies and growing federal spending.

Few of his aides expect that Kennedy will draw the vote of many corporation heads next November, but they want Kennedy to calm any fears among the millions of Americans who identify their welfare with that of business even though they never met a payroll.

Traditional Turkey for President

By FRANCIS LEWINE

WASHINGTON (AP) — The traditional Thanksgiving turkey was presented to President Kennedy by the poultry industry today, and the smiling chief executive spared the life of the 55-pound broad white tom.

With a big grin as he looked down at the frightened, panting bird, Kennedy said: "We'll just let this one grow."

It's our Thanksgiving present to him," the President told the gathering of turkey industry representatives and reporters, who clustered in the White House rose garden for the traditional turkey presentation.

The turkey came from the Keithley McPherrin Turkey Farm in Sunnyside, Calif.

A sign hung around its neck with gold ribbon said, "Good eating, Mr. President."

But, from the very moment the president sighted the turkey, he decided the Kennedys would not eat this one.

"We'll just keep him," was his first reaction.

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., who came along with the representatives of the Poultry and Egg National Board and the National Turkey Federation, whose headquarters are in his home state, suggested that Kennedy add the turkey to the livestock at his new Virginia home.

Kennedy quipped that would be all right, if you'll come down and feed and water him."

Eventually, the President decided to just send the huge tom turkey, which actually is too large to cook in any normal oven, back to his farm home to help breed better and bigger turkeys for the nation.

Woman's Death Investigated

SEARCY, Ark. (AP) — Prosecutor Lloyd Henry said today that the death of Mrs. Oran Ray Hays, 36, who died of strychnine poisoning Nov. 10, would be submitted to the White County Grand Jury in January.

A coroner's jury ruled Saturday after an autopsy that Mrs. Hays died from poison administered by an unknown person. Her husband, Oran Ray Hays, 39, of the Gravel Hill Community near Searcy, was released from jail Saturday after the inquest.

Hays faces charges of operating a liquor still and possession of untaxed whisky, Henry said.

The jury said Hays contributed to Mrs. Hays' death by degrading taking her to the hospital. The jury asked that Hays be held for investigation by the grand jury, but it did not issue a warrant and Hays was released because he was not charged, Henry said.

OVID, N.Y. (AP) — Lord knows what would have happened if she hadn't been there," said Henry Brown of his baby sitter, Jo Anne Reagan.

Miss Reagan, 17, made a rope of bed sheets and a bed spread Sunday to enable Brown's four children and herself to escape from his burning home.

She tied one end to a heavy chair in a second-floor bedroom. Two children, Henry, 4, and Thomas, 2, clung to the rope and Miss Reagan lowered them 15 feet to the ground.

A neighbor, James Wyckoff, arrived and Miss Reagan lowered herself and notified firemen.

Wyckoff climbed the rope and rescued 5-month-old Edward Brown and 3-year-old Joanne. Brown and his wife were at work.

The Arkansas Plan Is Paying Off

By JOHN R. STARR

Associated Press Staff Writer

The real impact of Arkansas' industrialization program has come in the last eight years.

This is when: "Industry" became a word to be spoken with reverence.

The program was glamorized by the Arkansas Industrial Development Commission and dramatized by an addition of jobs each year.

The program began paying off in increasing state revenues because of an improved economic situation.

But Arkansas' industrial program was almost a teen-ager in 1955 when the AIDC was created at the urging of individuals and groups which had been 12 years organizing "The Arkansas Plan" for economic development.

The Arkansas Plan was born in March, 1943, at a meeting of 32 business leaders. Out of this came the Arkansas Economic Council which assigned to itself in the potential of industrial development, of selling the outside world on Arkansas and of convincing Arkansas communities that they must work to build their own futures through industrialization.

For two years the emphasis was on planning. Word War II was reaching a climax and the energies of state and nation were devoted then to winning the war.

The Arkansas Plan however, implemented a post-war program envied by many states.

Even before the war ended, backers of The Arkansas Plan went before the 1945 Legislature and plugged for creation of a state agency to co-ordinate industrialization work.

The Legislature responded by establishing the Arkansas Resources and Development Commission which set the stage the next 10 years for aggressive action by the AIDC.

The same 1945 Legislature set up in the University of Arkansas a bureau which eventually led to establishment of the Graduate Institute of Technology and the Industrial Research and Extension Center, two effective tools in the state's industrial development.

Soviet Trade Program Has Failed

By STERLIN F. GREEN

AP Economics Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Russian trade-and-aid offensive, launched a decade ago to try to sweep new and neutral nations into the Communist camp, is a growing disappointment to the Kremlin.

Even in Moscow confidence has dimmed. American government analysts report, that the emerging countries of Africa & Asia soon will reject capitalism in a great "national-liberation movement."

And comparisons of 1962 trade data now available confirm that Russia remains a puny commercial rival of the United States in all but a few limited areas of the non-Communist world.

Two thirds of Russia's trade continues to be with its captive market, the Communist bloc in Europe, but its goal of "Burying" the United States as the foremost trading nation depends on the penetration of the vast and swiftly growing Western markets and the developing nations.

Russian progress has been substantial, considering that the Soviets started virtually from scratch. But Washington's concern is less with the trade volume — as an entire bloc the Communist group generates only 5 per cent of world commerce — than with the political and propaganda impact of Soviet economic warfare.

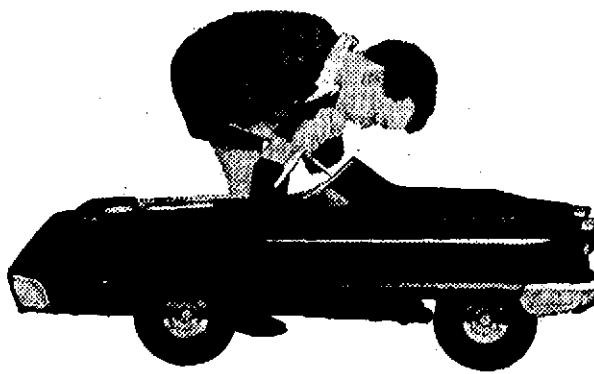

Officials suspect that Russia gets more political mileage per ruble of foreign aid than the United States gets per dollar—Soviet aid programs are inexpensive, shrewdly aimed at the West's worst trouble spots, designed for maximum payoff in political or military advantage and magnified by adroit propaganda techniques.

But analysts who advise the State Department and Congress now note rising skepticism toward the Marxist promise even in the underdeveloped lands, where Russia has poured out Rubles and promises.

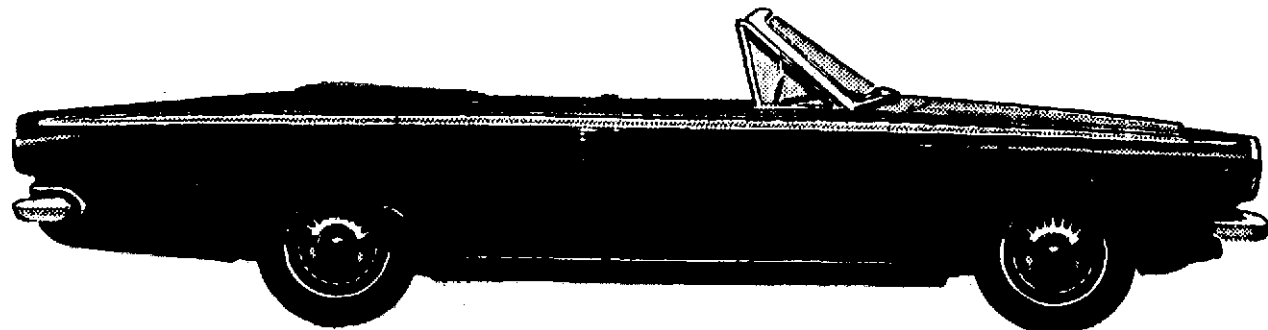

U.S. expert Leon Herman, Soviet economic analyst for the Library of Congress, told an interviewer that Russian leaders "realize matters are less promising than they had hoped," but have not altered their plans or diminished their efforts.

"They feel they can create hostility for the developed countries among the underdeveloped — can convince them that they are the victims of capitalist exploitation," Herman explained.

All sorts of little ditties on fashions make their way to our desk. We would like to share this one with you...

"Penelope Harris Spent six months in Paris To learn about life and I'm sure Now she takes awful chances When she goes to dances Cause she can't keep the wolves From her Dior!"

We do not know who composed this, but we have always had a great respect for Mr. Dior. Several years ago he came out with the statement that American women should erect a monument to manufacturers on 7th Avenue in New York City. They keep us clothed in the highest fashion for the least amount of money, and any woman in this country can look like a fashion plate, by choosing her wardrobe carefully.

We, at Raley's, have reproductions of Paris creations in stock now. For instance, the Jon McCauley Original all wool jersey with the acetate backing, perfect for the woman who is allergic to wool. The lines are simple, high neckline, three-quarter sleeves, a tiny bit of fullness in the skirt... a dress to wear to a party or to church, and priced at only $19.95. The pebble knit Jonathan Logan, a shift style with tie-belt of leather, comes in snow white and pastel shades, wear a scarf or pearls at the neckline... $25.95. These are just a sample of the new styles... you should see them all!

The new pastel sweaters and skirts are arriving, pleated plaids as well as slim straight styles. The sweaters have the over-bust look and the colors are lush! They make beautiful presents and, of course, you will want one for yourself. Skirts — $11.95. Sweaters — $9.95 & $11.95.

By this time you know we are nuts about knits... and you will join us when you see the Holiday lines. Sizes and prices for everyone.

It is time for shopping and we invite you: come in look, see and try on at Raley's Style Shoppe, Hope's House of Fashion.

Thursday, November 21 in the school cafeteria at 7:30 p.m. for their regular meeting.

Elder Jack Biefum of Waldo will speak on the need for Moral and Spiritual values. A baby sitter will be available. Refreshments will be served by the 5th and 6th grades.

The Hope Chapter 328, Order of Eastern Star will hold its regular meeting in the Hope Masonic Hall Thursday night, November 21, at 7:30 p.m.

All members are urged to attend this meeting.

The Springhill P.T.A. will meet in the school auditorium Thursday, November 21 at 7:30 p.m.

A special film, School Drop-Outs will be shown. A good attendance is urged.

Fenwick Winner in Sudden Death Playoff

The Hope Womens Golf Association held a handicap tournament Thursday at the Country Club. There was a good turnout and everyone enjoyed it so much that plans are under way for a similar tournament next month if the weather permits.

Mrs. Henry Fenwick emerged the winner after an exciting sudden death playoff with Mrs. Emmett Wassell. Mrs. Jim Smith won the blind bogie prize.

DAR Meets at Heritage House

The John Cain Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, met at the Heritage House Wednesday, November 13.

Mrs. Arthur Wimmel presented a program on the modern American Indian, whose tribes now number approximately 100. Over 4,000 laws governing the Indians have been passed by the U.S. Government, according to Mrs. Wimmel. Speaking of the present trend to help the Indians she told of the recently instituted program of the present U.S. administration which offers free education in industrial trades to those desiring such instruction.

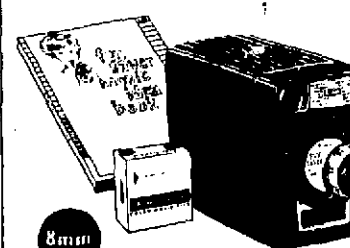

Color slides of two DAR approved schools for Indians, Bacone College, Bacone, Okla. and St. Mary's School for Indian Girls, Springfield, S.D. were shown by Mrs. Wimmel. These schools promoted and owned, respectively, by the missions of the Baptist Church and by the Episcopal Missionary District of S.D. have never received any Federal or State aid but are supported by churches, individuals, and patriotic organizations. The support given by the DAR is vital to the success of each. About 20 to 25 percent of the annual budget for St. Mary's is provided by the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution.

Miss Mamie Twitchell, bringing the monthly National Defense news reviewed an article from the DAR National Magazine, "The Passing of the Patriot" by Dr. Max Rafferty, Superintendent of Public Instruction and Director of Education, State of California.

Concluding the article which discussed methods of education, Dr. Rafferty said: "I don't know when at long last the American people will rise in all the power and majesty of their great tradition to put an end to this role of international doormat which we have assumed of late, and which becomes us so poorly.

But I do know one thing. When that time comes... we educators had better not be caught short. We had better not be caught withholding from the Nation's children the wonderful sharp-edged, glittering sword of Patriotism. In a word, this means indoctrination. An ugly word?... If it is ugly to teach children to revere the great Americans of the past-to cherish the traditions of our country as holy things-and to hate communism and its creatures... then I say let's be ugly, and let's revel in it."

Calls for End to Sit-ins at Helena

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Arkansas Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett warned today that integrationists arrested in Helena Saturday for sit-in activity should beat a hasty retreat.

Bennett made the comment in a news conference in Little Rock as the 32 persons were in Helena Municipal Court for a hearing today.

Those jailed included William Hansen, a white man who is a field secretary for the Students Non-Violent Coordinating Committee.

Whoever is pulling the strings that make William Hansen jump does not know the facts of life of the people of Helena or Phillips County," Bennett said.

I remember my father telling me about the Elaine incident," Bennett said. Elaine, 25 miles south of Helena, was the scene of a bitter racial struggle in 1919 in which several white men and probably more than Negroes were killed.

Bennett was born in Helena and moved with his family to El Dorado when he was four.

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Pu Hsin-yu, 67, one of Nationalist China's leading artists, died today after a long illness.

Pu, also known as Pu Ju, was a brother of Henry Pu Yi, last emperor of China. Pu escaped to Formosa in 1949 after the Communist occupation of Peking.

ONE WAY TO LOSE
THOSE EXTRA POUNDS
By Helen Worden Erskine

Dear Helen: I married a man whom I hated. Why? Because he threatened to kill me and the man I really loved. I'd been dating with this bully three years but never once did he mention marriage or rearing a family. So I dropped him for as sweet and kind a guy as a girl could wish for. It was love at first sight. He wanted me to be his wife, to bear his children and to make a home for him. Joyfully, I said, Yes!

Then that hummer I'd wasted three years of my life on came to me and said he'd shoot both of us. To save the good guy I married the bad one and have regretted it ever since. His mother loathes me as much as I so her son. He treats me like a prisoner, won't let me go to the post office alone, reads all my mail. I'm writing and mailing this while he is at work.

I can't even see my best girl friend. If I do my husband says he'll beat my head in. I know he doesn't love me yet he refuses to let me divorce—boasts that he'll kill me for sure, if I try. We live with his parents which makes it worse. I've lost 41 pounds in the five years of my married life and am still losing. What should I do? —Prisoner anything you've done for love. By that I mean, your marrying your present husband to save the good guy. He probably still is a good guy, and you also are a good girl. So stop wasting your time mourning the past and begin thinking about ways to salvage, or scrap, your marriage. Act, don't brood. My leaflet, Divorces and Separations, may be of help. A stamped, self-addressed envelope will bring it to you.

Dear Prisoner: Never regret

Dear Helen: You wrote that you sincerely believe there is more than one path to Heaven. This was apropos of two young people of different faiths marrying. I find it truly sad that through the ages man has originated the belief that God allows people to get into Heaven by many pathways. He explicitly states in His Word that there is only one way and, how shall we escape, if we neglect so great salvation (Hebrews 2:3). The answer is that no one will escape. Upon God's authoritative Word, how can you insist that there are many ways or paths to Heaven? —In Christ, Miss Ruth Chase, Woodbury, Conn.

Dear Miss Chase: In the Gospel according to Saint John, Chapter 14, Verse 2, is written: In my Father's house are many mansions. My interpretation

Money Bills Involve 19 Billion Dollars

By WILLIAM ARBOGAST
Associated Press Staff Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Appropriations bills move to center stage in Congress this week with more than $19 billion of the taxpayers' cash involved.

While the Senate and House consider measures to pay for military construction public works and a variety of government agencies, some interesting side attractions are scheduled in committees.

The Senate Investigations subcommittee resumes its probe of the controversial TX warplane contract and the Senate Finance Committee takes up a House-passed bill to raise the temporary debt ceiling to $35 billion.

Separate House hearing look into the recent trip to Cuba by U.S. students, medical care for the elderly and the government's past research programs.

The house starts its week by considering today a bill calling for $1,562,964,000 in appropriations for military construction programs.

On Tuesday's House docket is $4,276,116,400 measure to foot the bill for federal public works programs.

Neither measure has been acted on by the Senate.

Scheduled for consideration in the Senate this week are House passed bills to appropriate some $14 billion for more than a score of independent government agencies, the District of Columbia government and Congress itself.

The sudden spurt of appropriations activity is part of a drive to clear the decks of all money bills in the hope that Congress might be able to adjourn before Christmas.

That hope was brightened when it became apparent that the Senate would not act this year on a House-passed major tax bill and that the House itself might not act on the administration's civil rights measure.

The Cottillion Social Club met in the home of Mrs. Corine Gilbert, Emmet, Arkansas with Mrs. M. E. Virgil, presiding.

During the business session, plans were made for the annual Christmas Party which will be held on December 13th. One new member was initiated into the club.

Thirteen members enjoyed a delectable dinner meal served from a dining room decorated with fall flowers. The table was laid with a white lace cloth. The center piece was fashioned into a silver horn of plenty filled with colorful fruits and nuts making an attractive harvest scene.

Mrs. Evelyn Williamson thanked the hostess on behalf of the club for an enjoyable evening. Mrs. C. G. Williamson, reporter.

Ann Kenyon: Surgeon

By Adeline McElfresh

(Distributed by Newspaper Enterprise Assn. © 1960 Adeline McElfresh)

I've got a call for you, Dr. Kenyon," Bess Whalen at the switchboard — receptionist's desk called across the foyer when Ann stepped off the elevator.

Crossing to the telephone on the desk Ann thanked her; then, "This is Dr. Kenyon."

"Nora Roberts, Dr. Kenyon." The voice was crisp, businesslike—a little too crisp and businesslike? Ann's diagnostic mind questioned the merest trace of tension. I would like an appointment for this afternoon."

"I'll be pleased to see you. But we don't have appointments, Miss Roberts. We see patients in the order in which they arrive at the office."

Nora Roberts corrected her, "Mrs.," and then, "Oh, I didn't know that. Office hours are one to five, are they not?"

Ann said that they were. "I'll be there at one." She hung up before Ann could tell her that the waiting room normally was half filled by one o'clock.

Thinking that time had a habit of getting away from her here at Ledbie Memorial, she went downstairs and after coffee and a quick sandwich let herself into the office which she and Dave Clyde alternated using when they saw outpatients.

Conscious of the quiet murmur in the waiting room, Ann went into the examining room where Cass Llewellyn was getting ready for their patients.

Sounds like a room full, Cass." She had drifted swiftly into the informality of calling the pleasant blond nurse by her first name when they weren't with a patient.

I peeked a while ago. Dr. Lyle is going to blow a gasket." Around a peculiar little pang Ann asked, "Why?"

Nora Roberts is out there." I know. She telephoned." Cass said softly. "Wow!" She looked around the examining room, efficient eyes checking every detail. Do we take her first?"

Is she?" Cass Llewellyn said, "No," and smiled.

Watching her go toward the waiting room, Ann sensed she had hurdled an obstacle she hadn't even known existed.

Five patients and an hour and a half later Miss Llewellyn ushered Nora Roberts into the office. Mrs. Leonard Roberts, Dr. Kenyon.

As the nurses who assisted her in outpatients usually did, Cass introduced them.

Ann said with a smile, Good afternoon, Mrs. Roberts. I'm sorry you had to wait so long."

"It doesn't matter." She sat in the consulting chair drawn close to Ann's desk without being asked and said abruptly, Doctor, Dr. Lyle says I must have been ever since the baby examine me, please?"

Ann asked, Does Dr. Lyle know you're here?" The burnished auburn head said that he didn't. He's probably right, I know. But Dr. Kenyon, if he isn't on the chance that he isn't—my husband and I want your opinion."

And if I disagree," Ann told her, another doctor's."

Nora Roberts's smile was less strained than the one with which she had acknowledged Cass Llewellyn's introduction. I had hoped you would say that. Dr. Lyle didn't. I'm afraid he already has made arrange-

Crossett Case Scheduled by the PSC

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—An application for approval of reorganization of the Public Utilities Co. of Crossett will be heard by the Public Service Commission next Monday.

Under the proposed plan the Public Utilities Co., which operates power, gas and water and telephone utilities at Crossett, would be liquidated and its assets taken over by two new firms—the Public Utilities Corp. of Crossett and the Crossett Water Co.

Incorporators of both new firms are listed as Vernon J. Giss, Rose Jolley and R. H. Thornton Jr., all of Little Rock. Thornton is attorney for the Ar-Stephens, Inc., an investment firm.

The proposal called for the Public Utilities Corp. to assume $1,115,377 of the debt of the existing company and to issue $1,999,872 worth of its stock to buy the gas, power and telephone interests of the existing firm.

The new water company would assume $282,873 in debts and issue $336,431 worth of stock.

Texas, Navy Continue as Two Top Teams

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Here's one for the boys in the back shop.

The printers can make last week's college football poll the one with unbeaten Texas on the top - simply shuffle two teams in the middle of the pack, and that's The Associated Press Top Ten for this week.

The 51 sports writers and broadcasters in this week's poll made only one switch in the standings, after a weekend in which all 10 teams won.

Texas grabbed 45 first place votes to lead the list for the sixth straight week. No. 2 Navy got the other six.

There are rumblings about matching the top two in the Cotton Bowl. Texas has already sewed up the host spot, with only Texas A&M on Thanksgiving Day standing between the Longhorns and their first unbeaten untied season since 1920.

Navy plays Army Nov. 30, and a victory would probably bring a rash of bowl bids, including one from the Cotton.

Texas collected 503 points in the poll on the usual 10-9-8-etc., voting. Navy ad 423.

Mississippi, unbeaten but once tied, was third with 359, followed by Michigan State with 305.

Pittsburgh, impressive in a 28-0 victory over Army, moved up to fifth, switching places with Oklahoma.

Then came Alabama, Illinois, Auburn and Nebraska, right where they were last week.

The top ten teams with first place votes in parentheses, season records and points:

	W	L	T	Pts.
1. Texas 45	9	0	0	503
2. Navy 6	8	1	0	423
3. Mississippi	7	0	1	359

6. Oklahoma	7	1	0	254
7. Alabama	7	1	8	223
8. Illinois	6	1	1	180
9. Auburn	7	1	0	117

Chargers, Patriots Lead Statistically

NEW YORK (AP) — The streaking San Diego Chargers and the Boston Patriots continued to show the way in the American Football League's team statistics.

The Chargers maintained their lead on offense and the Patriots on defense, although Boston allowed 24 points to Kansas City in a tie game.

Buffalo outgained the San Diego team, despite a 23-13 defeat at the hands of the Chargers, and edged closer in the season statistics. San Diego's offense has averaged 376.4 yards per game, compared to 362.6 for Buffalo. San Diego's rushing average of 151.4 yards was tops and Buffalo led in passing with a 241 yard average.

Boston's defense yielded 234 yards passing and 96 yards rushing to Kansas City in that

Colavito Bought by Kansas City

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The power-poor Kansas City Athletics paid a high price in talent to Detroit for slugger Rocky Colavito, but owner Charles Finley predicted Colavito will hit 40 home runs—and said he will move in the left field fence to help him.

Colavito said he felt capable, but would make no predictions. He added he was glad to get away from Detroit — glad to get away from the front office.

The big right-handed hitting outfielder, who tallied off to 22 homers last season, said the Detroit front office was talking early in the season about trading him.

"I like to feel appreciated," he said, at his home in Temple, Pa. I would imagine they were not satisfied or they wouldn't be looking to trade me."

The A's who gave up Jerry Lumpe, one of baseball's better second basemen, and two front-line right-handed pitchers, Dave Wickersham and Ed Rakow, Kansas City also received Bob Anderson, a right-handed relief pitcher, plus an unannounced sum of cash.

Certainly it's a gamble," Finley said in Minneapolis, where he had gone on insurance business.

We weren't winning with Lumpe and our pitching. We've got rookie Dick Green, a fine fielder, at second base. His bat is a question mark, but that's just another gamble we had to take. We think Manager Ed Lonat can help Anderson.

Colavito has hit 222 homers in the past six seasons, more than any other American League hitter in the same period. In eight full seasons in the majors, he has averaged 33.5 homers and 100.4 runs batted in. His lifetime batting average is .271.

The handsome 6-foot-3, 209-pounder had 91 RBI last season. Detroit, rated the best challenger of the New York Yankees, got off to a bad start and finished in a fifth place tie with Cleveland at 79-83. It was decided to trade Colavito for needed pitching and infield help.

Finley said the left field fence would be moved in at least to the 325-foot mark for Colavito. The fence is now 331 feet from the plate down the line and 364 in left-center.

Lumpe, a left-handed batter, hit .271 with 59 RBI last season after a bad start. He had a lifetime average of .279 before last season. Lumpe's best year was 1961 with 10 homers and 33 RBI in 1962.

Wickersham won 12 and lost 15 last season with a 4.06 earned run average. Rakow was 9-10 with 3.98 and Anderson 3-1 with 3.30 in 40 innings.

24-24 tie Sunday but the Pats held the statistical leadership. Boston had allowed 254 yards per game and only 69.3 yards on the ground.

Second Place District Fight About Over

In results last week Magnolia downed Camden 21-7; Fairview defeated Crossett 19-12, and Smackover edged Malvern 7-6. Hope was idle.

Texans Take 1963 Cross Country Event

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — The University of Texas, paced by sophomores Preston Davis and Richard Romo, took the top spot Monday in the 1963 Southwest Conference cross-country meet at the University of Arkansas.

Davis finished first to capture the individual title after running the three-mile course in 14:47.2. Romo took third place for the Longhorns.

Texas had a total of 34 points with Mike Hannon in eighth place, Chuck Frawley in ninth and Ronnie Yates in 15th.

The University of Arkansas got the team second place with Wayne Irsch finishing fourth, John Deardoff in fifth, Mike Chilton in 11th, Jeff Pride in 16th and Phillip Kolb in 18th. The Razorbacks pulled in 54 points.

Texas A&M took last place with 122 points despite running of Ilham Dilgudaz who won second place among individuals.

Southern Methodist and 87 points for third place, Texas Tech got 93 for fourth and Rice was fifth with 113.

Texas Christian and Baylor did not compete.

Porks Watch Films in SMU Loss

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — The Arkansas Razorbacks watched films of Arkansas' 14-7 loss to Southern Methodist for an hour and 15 minutes Monday afternoon and then went through a 45-minute workout in sweat clothes.

The close of the practice session, the Razorbacks went through ten 50-yard wind sprints as an unusual practice exercise for the Porks.

Coach Frank Broyles said the wind sprints were intended to get the team into better shape and they would continue the rest of the week.

Broyles said the Porks were hurt by the heat they ran into at Dallas.

The Razorback Mentor expressed dissatisfaction with the work of his line in the SMU game. He said quarterback Fred Marshall did well in the game but the rest of the backs didn't have a chance.

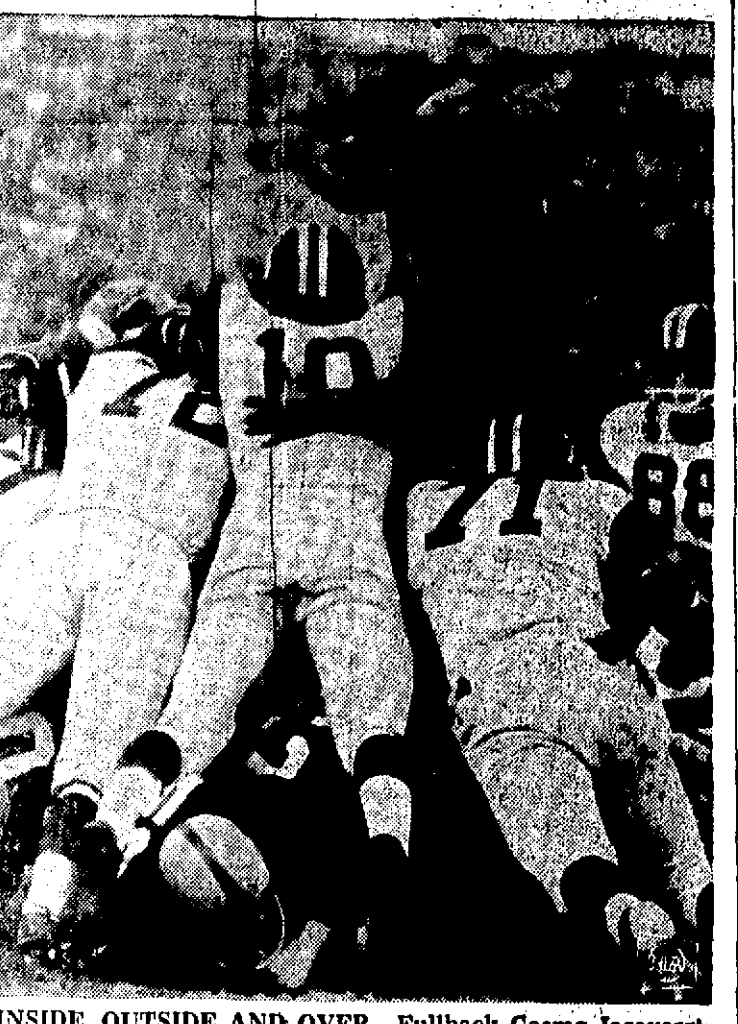

Trainer Bill Ferrell said Marshall, who separated a shoulder against the Methodists, would probably be all right in time to get a starting berth against Texas Tech Saturday the Razorback's last game of the season.

Longhorns Are No. 1 on Defense

DALLAS (AP) — A remarkable defense, especially against rushing, has been largely responsible for Texas maintaining its No. 1 rank in the nation for five straight weeks.

The Longhorns No. 1 defensive team in the Southwest Conference by allowing only 195.1 yards per game, shines mostly with its stinginess in holding ball-carriers to just 78.6 yards.

This is close to a conference record—the 78.3 set by Texas in 1952.

No opposing team has managed more than 100 yards on the ground against Texas' except Southern Methodist, which bulged to 115. Texas Christian last week managed only 34.

Baylor continues to lead the league in total offense, averaging 348.1 yards per game, but Texas also is over 300 yards.

The Longhorns have gobbled up 303.4.

Texas A&M should worry least about the Texas' defense, it would appear. The Aggies haven't been able to average as much on offense as Texas has given up on defense. The Aggie average is 180.1.

finish second, being the only team that hasn't lost more than one game. The Aggies play Texas at Austin Saturday in the final game of the season.

Baylor beat Rice 14-10, Texas Tech walloped North Texas State 56-28 and Southern Methodist owned Texas Christian 53-12 last week.
